ADDENDA

abstr. 16, v. 66, 1969. An amplification of this abstract may be found on p. 937 of this Bulletin, v. 67, 1970.

abstr. 216, v. 67, 1970. In this abstract an important item of information given by the authors has been omitted. The authors stated that "over 2000 cases of imported malaria have been confirmed by blood examination". This figure should be taken into account when considering the percentages or numbers of cases infected with various species of malaria parasites quoted in the paper.

The numerous cases of indigenous malaria after the first world war occurred in Essex and not in Sussex.

abstr. 2775, v. 67, 1970. In this abstract the Table is a compressed version of that in the original paper. This compression obscures evidence of the existence of radiation-stimulated emergence in male G. austeni and in male and female G. morsitans.

ERRATA (1970)

abstr. 215	In the reference in the second line of the abstract the abstract number should read "1894".
abstr. 427	The name of the second author should read "WESCOTT".
abstr. 561	After "trimethoprim 1 mg" in line 2, insert "and sulphamethoxazole 5 mg".
abstr. 859	The name of the author should read "LIE KIAN JOE".
abstr. 922	In the fourth line of the title, "No. 17, 512–34." should read "No. 17, 512–14".
abstr. (1148)	In the title the word "quality" should be replaced by "quantity".
abstr. 1463	In the translated title the last named species should read "L. braziliensis". There is another misprint of the name of this species in line 4 of the abstract.
abstr. 1511	For "(FENJE and POSTIC . . . 171)." in line 9, substitute "(see this Bulletin, 1970, v. 67, abstr. 2798)".
abstr. 2091	In line 8, amend "Ateles fuscipes" to "Ateles fusciceps".
abstr. 2533	In the first line of the abstract, for "agasizi" read "agassiz".
abstr. 2738	Delete the two paragraphs on p. 1410 commencing "The construction of hydro-electric . . ." and "However, the construction . . ." respectively.
